We do it all... and then some!

by Dianne Bitzes  Marketing Director, 1 SOFSS/FSK

Did you know October 24th is “Make a Difference Day?” Started in the early 90’s as a celebration of neighbors helping neighbors, MDDay has grown over 20 years to become the largest single-day of volunteering in the country. This USA TODAY initiative was founded on the belief that no matter who you are or where you’re from, everyone has the power to do something that improves the life of another. Whether it’s starting a project to help one person, or working on a venture to benefit an entire community, every contribution makes a difference.

Maybe you’ve heard the saying, “A little goes a long way.” Volunteering just a few hours here or there adds up to huge results for our community. Plus, giving time in short increments can help prevent burn out and encourage others to share the load.

Yet, volunteering can be a slippery slope. An article recently reminded me of some key points for a balanced life: put parameters around your projects; set limits for yourself; determine the focus area for where you would like to make a difference and stick to that...and only that; and make time for yourself. Above all else, remember family first. Your spouse and children love spending time with you--the happy you!

Ironically, every day is “Make a Difference Day” in Force Support. Over 600 active duty airmen, civilians, and volunteers proudly do their part in an organization whose commitment to excellence directly impacts the lives of other people—the Hurlburt Field Community.

FSS directly contributes to ready, resilient and retained Airmen making a difference every day for our great Nation. Be it food, fitness, family or fun, we help ensure Air Commandos are combat ready at Any Time, Any Place.

This calm before the holiday storm is the perfect time of year to remember the value of volunteering and working together as a community. But whether volunteering or doing your daily job, striving for balance in our lives is vital to personal health and well-being. We need your body and spirits in top condition when you volunteer to make a difference later in the month or even all year long as part of your Air Force profession.

This is an unofficial activity. It is not a part of the Department of Defense or any of its components and has no governmental status.
The Key Spouse Program is an official unit and family program designed to enhance readiness and establish a sense of Air Force community. It is a commander’s program promoting partnerships with unit leadership. Volunteer Key Spouses are appointed by the commander, families, the Airman and Family Readiness Center (A&FRC) and other community helping agencies. The program is standardized across the Air Force to address the needs of all military families. The program establishes continuous contact with spouses/families while encouraging peer-to-peer Wingman support. A strong Key Spouse program strengthens leadership’s support team and is a vital asset to building strong Air Force communities.

The A&FRC is the heart of the Key Spouse Program and is responsible for conducting initial and monthly trainings. Additionally, A&FRC organizes other programs to enhance a Key Spouse’s skills such as a networking fair for Key Spouses to share best practices and showcase their programs. Valuable assets to a leadership team, Hurlburt Key Spouses are incorporated into the community outreach and resiliency programs Integrated Delivery System (IDS) initiatives. Along with commanders and first sergeants, Key Spouses were invited to attend the 2015 IDS Leadership Forum to interact with installation helping agencies.

Eileen Collins is the new Hurlburt Field Key Spouse Program point of contact. Her three years of experience with Airman and Family Readiness is an asset to the Hurlburt program. She focuses on developing skills the Key Spouse uses to inform, support and refer other unit spouses. Collins’ initiatives include a Key Spouse Facebook group and...
Collins knows sharing information is the quickest way to enhance a Key Spouse program, “Networking can be more easily achieved by participating in the new Key Spouse Facebook group. This online tool lets Key Spouses quickly connect with one another and share information on what is working and what isn’t. Sharing ideas is vital to making this program thrive.” The group is a great resource for the Key Spouses to meet each other and build their unique social network.

Each month a newsletter highlighting Key Spouse best practices, training information and base events is sent to all Key Spouses, Commanders and First Sergeants for sharing with unit spouses and posting for unit members. The newsletter is another avenue for passing along information such as military down days, federal holidays and community activities. Feature articles inform families about the variety of A&FRC resources such as “Hearts Apart” events for families of deployed. The newsletter highlight Hurlburt Field’s newly trained key spouses on the last page.

Volunteers are the key to a successful Key Spouse Program. If you or someone you know is interested in becoming a Key Spouse, or if want to know more about the program, please contact Eileen Collins at the Airman and Family Readiness Center, 850-884-4751.

Halloween Safety 101

by Emily Guerrero

1 SOFSS/FSK

This Halloween, FSS urges our Hurlburt Field Community to take safety seriously to ensure the spooky experience is fun for everyone. By considering things like fire safety and late night driving, you can avoid potential disaster and enjoy a night of good scares.

The Spooky Facts of Fire Safety

Jack O’ Lanterns and Spooktacular Décor highlight an evening of trick or treating to your hearts content. However, letting some decorations go unattended can leave you with more of a fright than you intended. The National Fire Protection Association states that Halloween décor is typically the first thing to ignite and causes more than 900 fires a year!

Fire Safety Tips:

• Place jack-o-lanterns out of children’s reach
• Choose battery operated candles inside your pumpkins
• Use timers for any string lights or electrical wired décor
• Wear flame resistant fabric
• Avoid unusually flammable décor like corn husks and netting

• Keep large emergency exits clear at heavily attended events
• Make sure you have a working fire extinguisher in your home

For more fire safety information visit: www.nfpa.org

Practice Safe Trick or Treating

From choosing the perfect costume for your little ghouls and goblins to escorting them door to door, it can be simple to keep your children safe from things that go bump in the night. Safe Kid’s Worldwide estimates children are twice as likely to be hit by car on Halloween night when unaccompanied by an adult. If you’re concerned about trick or treating, check out our Hurlburt community events, schools, or churches for Trunk or Treat dates and times.

Trick or Treating Do’s and Don’ts:

• Operation Goblin (Trick or Treat) for Hurlburt Field runs Oct. 31 from 5:30-8:30 pm
• Always use sidewalks when available
• Check your yard for tripping hazards—remove ground and eye level dangers
• Drive slowly and watch for children darting across streets; Remember: the speed limit in all housing areas is 15 MPH
• Drive your children to housing areas that are far apart
• Avoid giving young children choking hazard treats such as gum, peanuts, hard candies, or small toys
• Try using non-toxic face paint instead of masks. Masks can make it hard for children to see
• Make sure costumes fit properly and there’s nothing children can trip on; put reflective tape on dark costumes
• Turn on exterior lights if you plan to give out candy
• Check and make sure all candy is properly sealed; avoid open candy
• Never eat homemade goods from strangers
• Bring flashlights or glow sticks and stay in well-lit areas when walking
• Most importantly, remind children not to enter strangers’ houses or accept rides from strangers
• Once back home, ask your children how their night went. Ask if anything happened that scared them or made them worry.

For more child safety tips for this Halloween visit www.safekids.org/halloween.

Halloween Responsibly

For those of you attending an adult Halloween get together, please consider proper risk management before heading out the door. A recent AAA study indicates, “Fifty-eight percent of all traffic fatalities in the U.S. on Halloween night last year involved a driver or motorcycle rider with blood-alcohol content (BAC) of 0.08 or higher, which is illegal in every state.” If you are attending a party where alcohol will be served, please remember that streets will be filled with children and adults of all ages and designate a sober driver.

Halloween Do’s and Don’ts for Adults:
• Do designate a sober driver. If you find yourself in need of a sober driver, please call Hurlburt AADD at 884-8844 before getting behind the wheel.
• Do not leave your drink or food unattended when you are in an unfamiliar and or public location.
• Do check in with your friends throughout the night if you are attending a large event.
• Do not forget to consider OPSEC before starting discussions or posting on social media.

Bonus Tips for a Hauntingly Good Time

More than half of safety is prevention. Make your Halloween a night to remember rather than a night you wish you could forget by following these guidelines:
• Bring all your pets inside after dark to ensure their safety.
• Keep your doors locked if you’ll be away from home.
• Avoid driving in heavily populated neighborhoods.
• Have a first aid kit and emergency phone numbers on hand.
• Come up with a Halloween Safety Plan and follow it!

The Mantz Brothers, Jordan and Holdan, are relative newcomers on the country music scene. The duo engaged with Airmen like seasoned entertainers during their 25 September visit to Hurlburt Field. The Mantz Brothers participated in the “Trace at the Base” event along with several other budding artists prior to their weekend concert in Navarre, “Country on the Sound.”

Most people recognize an active life-style provides long-term health benefits for everyone. By being active, people burn calories stored from eating throughout the day and—activity can be as simple as walking the dog or as rigorous as running a marathon. According to the President’s Council on Fitness, Sports & Nutrition, providing opportunities for children to be active early on puts them on a path to better physical and mental health. It’s never too late to jump-start a healthy lifestyle.

The Youth Sports program at Hurlburt is passionate about getting children moving and providing all types of activity including strength training, flexibility training, and aerobics in an atmosphere that is motivating, not monotonous.

A wide variety of athletic opportunities are offered continuously throughout the year based on the needs and interests of the community. From programs where parents and children learn sport fundamentals to organized league play to camps and clinics, the Hurlburt Youth Sports program is a healthy positive environment for healthy fun.

Registration for basketball, cheerleading and the inline hockey clinic kicks off in mid-October. Details are at myhurlburt.com/youthsports.php.

Another tool for your fitness arsenal is USAF FitFamily. This web based goal incentive program provides families the opportunity to set goals and monitor their progress. The FitFamily website provides resources, ideas and goal setting tools to help Air Force Families be active, make healthy nutrition choices and have fun in an effort to promote a healthier lifestyle. The site (www.usaffitfamily.com) is chocked full of recipes, articles, contests and information for overall wellness.

For adults 18 and older, USAF LivingFit has guidelines designed to promote fitness and weight management. LivingFit tools include a personalized fitness plan, meal plans, motivational tips and more: www.usaflivingfit.com.

Air Force Services Activity

MyAirForceLife.com #AFCClubFrenzy
The school year is flying by—we’re half way through the first semester. It’s never too early or too late to prepare for college. The Youth Center offers activities to help youth with finances and recognition necessary for admission. The following programs are more than just eye wash on an college application; they provide opportunities for teenagers to develop their physical, social, emotional, and reasoning abilities through experience, achievement, leadership, enjoyment, friendship, and recognition.

The Hurlburt Youth Center offers daily and year-round programming of activities involving a wide spectrum of the base youth population in positive activities. Activities are offered in the five core program areas: character and leadership development; the arts; youth sports, fitness, and recreation; health and life skills; and education and career development. A complete listing of programs for teens ages 14-18 can be found at myhurlburt.com/teencenter.php.

Y.E.S. Program

The Y.E.S. program is our Youth Employment Skills program that is for active duty Air Force high school aged dependent youth in grades 9-12. Sponsored by the Air Force Aid Society, Y.E.S. pays teens $6/hour for their volunteer hours up to 250 hours totaling $1500 for college. Student volunteer dollar credits will be dispersed in grant form upon verification of high school graduation and enrollment in a post-secondary program. Use of funds is limited to tuition, books, fees, and other direct educational expenses.

Congressional Award Program

congressionalaward.org

Youth and young adults, ages 13-23, are invited to challenge themselves to set, plan and achieve goals in four program areas: Volunteer/Public Service, Personal Development, Physical Fitness and Expedition/Exploration activities. Participants have the opportunity to be recognized with bronze and silver Congressional Award Medals at local, city or state-wide ceremonies. The gold medal ceremony is held annually in the U.S. Capitol building. Call for more info, (843) 963-5684.

Youth of the Year / Month Program

Each year, installations select one teen as the Boys & Girls Clubs of America Youth of the Year to represent their youth center. Selected youth have the opportunity to compete at the installation, state, regional, and national level. Selected youth earn scholarships while representing their installation, family, and their military branch of service. Annually, installation winners are recognized at a ceremony provided by the Air Force Services Activity Child and Youth Programs. All High School students are welcome to compete. For more information ask any Youth Programs staff member.

Boys & Girls Clubs of America’s tag line is “Great Futures Start Here.” It powerfully conveys the impact Boys & Girls Clubs have on the lives of young people.
